Monday, 4 May 2015

An Appeal to Young People by Archbishop Thabo

21st ANNIVERSARY OF OUR DEMOCRACY

Dear People of God

It has struck me afresh again that it is our 21st anniversary of our democracy and most of our youth have just turned 21 or are still 20. I would like to hear from this age group (20 – 21) who have voted for the first time last year.

I would like to hear from you as I regard myself as the servant of God and what I would like to hear from you is:

1. What are the 2 main issues that you are currently wrestling with?
2. What are the values that you think that are missing in Southern Africa?
3. What are the important values you would like to hear from the Anglican Church of Southern Africa?

We have created a special e-mail address that will be open for a period of 2 months only for this project to enable me to respond directly to all. Please do disseminate the message to all in your parishes as this opportunity is open to all who would like to write to the Archbishop. Herewith is the e-mail address: archbishop01@anglicanchurchsa.org.za.

Yours in the service of Christ
†Thabo

Posted by Anglican Media Office, Bishopscourt at 11:54